

Mailing Tubes

Mailing tubes are the go-to solution for shipping and storing items that are best kept rolled up rather than folded or bent, such as posters, maps, and artwork. These containers protect their contents from creases and other damage during transit due to their sturdy construction, which protects items from impacts and harmful pressure. The cylindrical shape also allows for easy handling and storage. Different kinds of mailing tubes offer different kinds of protection and uses. For example, crimped end mailing tubes are favored for their secure closure that does not have any need for tape or other adhesives.
