

Tags

Shipping tags are a necessary tool when it comes to logistics and transportation by helping to identify and track goods during shipping and storage. Our tags are made with cardstock or synthetic fibers, which allow them to remain attached to packages and remain legible when exposed to handling, moisture, and other environmental factors. When paired with specialty wire or string, shipping tags stay securely fastened to a wide variety of packaging types.
