Anti-Static Labels

Anti-static labels are designed to protect electronic components, circuit boards, and other static-sensitive items during handling and storage. Using attention-grabbing colors, these adhesive labels clearly communicate that an item requires static control precautions, helping prevent damage from electrostatic discharge while an item moves through manufacturing, warehousing, and shipping environments. Our anti-static labels come in many different formats, with some allowing you to add additional information to a label, and ship in roll quantities for space-saving storage.
