

Gel-Packs

Gel packs are essential for shipping goods that require reliable temperature control. Designed to maintain consistent cooling or heating, they're a perfect accompaniment when shipping perishables, pharmaceuticals, and other temperature-sensitive products. Gel packs create an effective thermal barrier against external temperature fluctuations, ensuring the integrity of products. Outside of their performance, gel packs are lightweight and reusable, meaning they're a cost-effective option. We offer gel packs in a wide variety of sizes to fit your specific needs and ship in case quantities.
